As Official Artists, Creators will Enjoy Opportunities with Network, Digital, Agency and Studio execs at October TV Fest

Independent Pilot Competition Official Selections to be Screened for the Public from October 24-29, Including 42 World Festival Premieres

[NEW YORK, NY, August 15, 2016] – The NYTVF (www.nytvf.com) today announced the Official Selections for its flagship Independent Pilot Competition (IPC). A record-high 63 original television and digital pilots and series will be presented for industry executives and TV fans at the 12th Annual New York Television Festival, including 42 world festival premieres, October 24-29, 2016 at The Helen Mills Theater and Event Space, with additional Festival events at the Tribeca Three Sixty° and SVA Theatre.

The slate of in-competition projects was selected from the NYTVF's largest pool of pilot submissions ever: up more than 42 percent from the previous high. Festival organizers also noted that the selections are representative of creative voices across diverse demographics, with 59 percent having a woman in a core creative role (creator, writer, director and/or executive producer) and 43 percent including one or more persons of color above the line (core creative team and/or lead actor).

“We were blown away by the talent and creativity of this year's submissions – across the board it was a record-setting year and we had an extremely difficult task in identifying the competition slate. As the TV landscape has evolved and become more competitive over the last decade, we've endeavored to complement that growth by cultivating new voices; engaging the industry; and creating a pipeline of opportunities on all sides of the episodic spectrum to maximize the potential of the indie TV community,” said Terence Gray, founder and executive director of the NYTVF.

This year's IPC Official Selections will be vying for a chance to join recent NYTVF alumni currently enjoying TV development success. Past NYTVF projects and creators recently in the news include: Animals, the 2013 Best Comedy winner which recently aired its first of two guaranteed seasons on HBO; a season order for NYTVF alum-written CW series No Tomorrow; a FOX pilot presentation of 2015 NYTVF-JFL winner That's My Bus; Netflix and iTunes premieres of The Jamz, the first project under the NYTVF Productions banner based on a 2014 Official Selection of the same name; a Fullscreen acquisition of 2014 Best Short-Form series Annie Undocumented; as well as dozens of NYTVF alumni who are currently part of staffs on broadcast, cable, and digital series.

Independent Pilot Competition – Opportunities for Artists & Industry Executives

In addition to being part of the annual independent television showcase, IPC selections will compete in a variety of categories (including “Best Comedy” and “Best Drama”) by a jury comprised of the NYTVF screening committee and the emerging television executives selected for the NYTVF-HRTS Next Generation Committee, with winners being announced at an October 29 closing night awards reception .

As Official Artists, the creators of these pilots qualify for a chance to receive a development deal from one of the NYTVF’s Development Partners – networks and studios which have guaranteed they will offer at least one deal to independent artists this year. These independent creators also have exclusive access to the NYTVF’s industry partners through the NYTVF Connect marketplace, which includes the opportunities to meet, network and pitch some of the top network and studio executives in the business.

For buyers, agents, managers, development executives, and additional industry members interested in participating in the NYTVF Connect program, passes are available for purchase through mid-October, with current rates starting at $1000. The NYTVF Connect Industry Pass provides accredited participants with pre-Festival access to all officially-selected projects and scripts, as well as the opportunity to request facilitated meetings with artists or projects of interest via the NYTVF's Executive Hub. For information on participation opportunities or to request accreditation, email industry@nytvf.com or visit http://www.nytvf.com/2016_industry.html.
